May 2011

Ya know, there's been a bit going on surf-wise and Wambi's been pretty good on average since the last comp.

The month started out small and clean but ramped up by the time the April comp ran... the Monday after saw North Wambi with sunny and clean 5 foot lefts and rights. Rumour also has it the Sheriff got barrelled one arvo at Peck's Secret Cove before the sand was decimated by the heinous onshore conditions that sprung up at easter.

Terrigal Point turned on for the last Friday in April and James Beck was seen marking his territory on the first suck, burning anyone that dared paddle on his inside... then on Monday 2 May, young Jimmy was charging at North Wambi by pulling into a full standup keg... ANIMAL!!!

Special mention also goes to SeaBass for chargin North Wambi on Tuesday 3 May surfin his trusty 5'6 Blackbox in 8 foot surf... Grommets, here's another role model for ya... surfs hard, fishes hard, the ladies are like grass to his whipper-snipper and he ain't racist, cause Wiggie's his mate... YEEEEEEOOOOOWWWWWW.

April Comp 4

You might all remember we made a reference to the movie Groundhog Day last newsletter regarding the March comp being postponed due to inclement weather and the very next week experiencing the the same conditions, but deciding to press on regardless.

Well, y'see the April comp wasn't much better and we found ourselves back down the Ruins with onshore straight handers again... sikaaaaaaaaaaaaaa, not.

WQS	Monk	Been doin it 21 years..!
WCT	Hicks	Same
Masters	The Sheriff	Nifty, you're on the most wanted list.

Thank god for the Sheriff... he treated the packing of the trailer as a bizarre crime scene by deftly slotting all the pieces of the puzzle together CSI style.

April Comp and Hashy's BDay Drinks

As advertised last newsletter, the April Comp drinks had an extra special element to them for Hashy's birthday and by all accounts everyone that attended had a really nice time. The local paparazzi were there to capture some of the fun... see below for your viewing pleasure.

RANDOM SPOT Department... 1

O WOW... This month's random spot is extra spesholoso!!! Yep, no need to look twice peoples, just on the right is none other than the creator of the Thruster, Mr Simon Anderson and WEB's very own Jose Santiago Lingo.

Tell me more I hear you ask... well Jose went down to the Bells Easter Classic with Hashy and they were lucky enough to attend the totes fab launch of Simons autobiography, Thrust. As you can imagine, Simon was stoked to see Jose and asked Hashy to take a photo for his collection.

Simon and Jose had a great time catching up over a few beers and Simon insisted Jose take one his books as he reckons it's bloody good read. What many don't know is that Simon and Jose share similar fates for their generosity... Simon of course invented the Thruster and let everyone copy the idea for the betterment of the sport. Likewise, Jose's love and dedication to competitive Salsa dancing saw him invent the Dancing with the Stars format that millions of viewers tune into each week.

Graciously, he wouldn't accept a penny for his ground breaking commercial television innovation, saying that to bring his passion into everyone's lounge room was reward enough.

RANDOM SPOT Department... 2

I'm tellin ya, Wambi's got absolutely everything... smoking left pipes in a north swell, a boardriders club full of animals, male models and the best stationaries on the east coast of Oz... Thursday 28 April saw the Council let the lake out and heaps of crew took it on... None better though than Christiano Nevico and SeaBass... check it out..!

See ya on 15 May for Comp 5... YEW... AND REMEMBER... SUPPORT OUR SPONSORS!!!
